When Larry and Sergey first met, they didn't like each other much.. In the summer of 1995, Larry Page was considering a transfer to Stanford University's graduate program in Computer Science. Sergey Brin was already two years into the program, and he had signed up to be a tour guide of sorts to potential students.

The History of Google | Internet History Podcast

The history of Google is a story of two brilliant minds, Larry Page and Sergey Brin, who met at Stanford University in 1995. They were both graduate students in the Computer Science department, and they were both looking for a way to improve the search engine. They decided to create a search engine that would rank pages based on the number of links pointing to them, a concept they called PageRank. This led to the creation of Google, which has since become one of the most successful and influential companies in the world.
